

HARDWARE KEY VALUE

The hardware key (or dongle) provided with this package is Advanced Tubular Technologies' method of license control.

Hardware keys take on the value of the license price when they are programmed with a license code. Therefore, we strongly recommend that extra precaution is taken in handling and securing these keys.

LICENSE REPLACEMENT

If your media (disks, CDs, DVDs, USB drivers) or documentation are damaged or lost, then they can be upgraded to the latest release of the software for the cost of an upgrade fee.

If the media lost or damaged were the latest version, then they can be replaced for a nominal replacement fee.

If the hardware key is damaged, it can be replaced for a nominal replacement fee.

If, however, a hardware key is lost, then we will consider it possibly stolen. If this is the case, then we ask that your company document its loss with the proper authorities (if that is appropriate in your jurisdiction), then present a claim to your insurance company for the loss or theft of the license. If it helps you, your insurance company can contact us to get the pricing details for a replacement license.

After we receive payment for the replacement license, then we will express-ship a newly licensed hardware key to your facility.

Therefore, we suggest that, if your company insures against loss or theft of its in-house software licenses, the entire software package, including, and especially the hardware key, should be insured for the cost of replacement of an entire package.
